

Sports Journalism Institute Application

Classroom portion of the program runs June 1-8, 2012, with classes at the University of Missouri in Columbia, Mo., followed by paid internships (to be determined individually) at print, digital or electronic media outlets. Editing and online candidates are urged to apply and may receive priority. Note that in most cases, students are required to have access to a car for the internship.

Name _____

Date of birth _____

E-mail address: _____

College or university _____

Student's address at school _____

Student's cell phone _____

Race or ethnic origin _____ Social Security number _____

Permanent address and home phone _____

Major _____

Scheduled month/year of graduation _____

Overall GPA _____ GPA in major _____

Do you have a valid driver's license? _____ If not, will you be able to obtain a license by May 2012? _____

Do you have a car or will you have access to one for the summer? _____ (most internships require a car)

Honors, awards, scholarships, etc.

Journalism or writing/editing/video experience

Career goals

Please rank the following areas of journalism according to your level of interest. "1" is the highest rank.

Reporting/writing _____ Copy editing _____ Photography _____ Page design _____
Online Journalism _____

Applications must be received by Nov. 14, 2011, and must be accompanied by two letters of recommendation, work samples (no more than 7), current college transcript, personal essay on what this program would mean to you (500 words maximum), and a photo.

Mail application packet to: Gregory Lee, The Boston Globe, 135 Morrissey Blvd., Boston, MA 02125